BIOGRAPHY

Dr. Edryn J. Coleman

Educator | Conductor | Author

Dr. Edryn J. Coleman brings artistry, purpose, and a deep commitment to people to his work as an educator, conductor, and author. He directs choir and piano at Oakland Mills High School in Maryland and teaches music education at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. His ensembles have appeared at state and national conferences, including the 2023 ACDA National Conference. An active guest conductor, clinician, and adjudicator, he serves as ACDA Eastern Region Membership Chair. He co-edited Accessible and Beautiful with Marques L. A. Garrett for Oxford University Press, connecting meaningful repertoire with the growth of singers and their communities.
